Primary Care Physician
Specializing in Geriatric Medicine

The Department of Family and Community Medicine and Division of Internal Medicine in the College of Osteopathic Medicine at Michigan State University (MSUCOM) is seeking highly qualified primary care physicians specializing in Geriatric Medicine to advance our clinical, educational and research missions. [For more information about MSUCOM, please visit the website at http://www.com.msu.edu].

Qualifications:

- DO degree (graduating residents will be considered)
- Board certified/eligible in family or internal medicine
- CAQ in geriatric medicine
- Knowledge of the philosophy, practice and application of osteopathic medicine
- Demonstrated clinical responsibility in ambulatory geriatrics, skilled nursing facilities, sub-acute rehabilitation centers, and hospice experience
- Demonstrated clinical, teaching, communication and team skills
- Successful record of leadership, particularly in organizing and building programs
- Demonstrated ability and willingness to collaborate with other clinical and academic units
- Strong background in academic geriatrics, with a record of publications in relevant areas

Our clinic provides primary care across the age continuum, uses an EMR system, and focuses on quality improvement. Successful candidates will have the opportunity to instruct pre- and post-doctoral students, fellows and residents in clinical and classroom settings.

Appointment and rank will be commensurate with experience.
