Course/Faculty Ratings by Students

At the completion of each course, students are given the opportunity to rate its overall effectiveness and provide suggestions for potential changes or to give support for areas that were conducted well.

Faculty may require that students provide this feedback, or it may be optional, but the expectation must be clearly articulated to the affected students in a timely manner. Also, no course credit or extra credit points may be given for the submission of this feedback.