Michigan State University
College of Osteopathic Medicine

Public Health Association

The PHA aims to:

- Promote health advocacy, education, and community outreach through integration of preventative public health principles with those of the osteopathic philosophy
- Inspire innovative thinking amongst our peers as they find solutions to contemporary public health problems in an increasingly dynamic patient population
- Acknowledge and address health disparities by incorporating an understanding of the social determinants of health into our clinical care
- Highlight health as not merely an absence of disease, but instead a multidimensional concept and often a reflection of a patient’s social, economic, and political status.
